The Three Sections of the IWS System

01

Calcium Transformation

In the first section, calcium carbonate is transformed into aragonite through a natural magnetic field. This eliminates limescale deposits in pipes and appliances, while also preventing the formation of kidney stones in the human body.

02

Memory Cancellation

The second section erases the negative memories acquired by tap water during its long journey through urban terrain and pipes, thus restoring the water's original purity and memory, just like water flowing from natural springs.

03

Vital Energy Charge

In the third section, water is charged with vital energy through a revitalization process that brings it to a higher energetic level compared to traditionally filtered waters, making it more bioavailable for the body.

The Science of Calcium Transformation

Calcium Carbonate

Traditional limescale present in tap water forms harmful deposits

Magnetic Field

Low-frequency permanent magnets interact with calcium

Aragonite

Calcium is pulverized and transformed into a harmless and beneficial form

Tangible Benefits for Your Home and Your Health

Reduction of Limescale Buildup

Aragonite, unlike traditional limescale, does not adhere to surfaces. This means your pipes, faucets, boilers, and appliances remain clean and free from deposits. The result is a more efficient home and lower maintenance costs.

Increased Appliance Lifespan

Boilers, water heaters, washing machines, and dishwashers last significantly longer and require less extraordinary maintenance. Appliances operate more efficiently, consuming less energy and ensuring optimal performance over time.

A Responsible Choice for You and for the Environment

Increasing the energetic value of the water you drink every day produces profound health benefits, positively influencing your and your family's well-being and vitality. It's not just about drinking clean water, but about nourishing your body with revitalized vital element.

More Energy

Revitalized water supports natural metabolic processes, giving you greater vitality throughout the day

Family Well-being

Every family member benefits from water that supports daily health and well-being

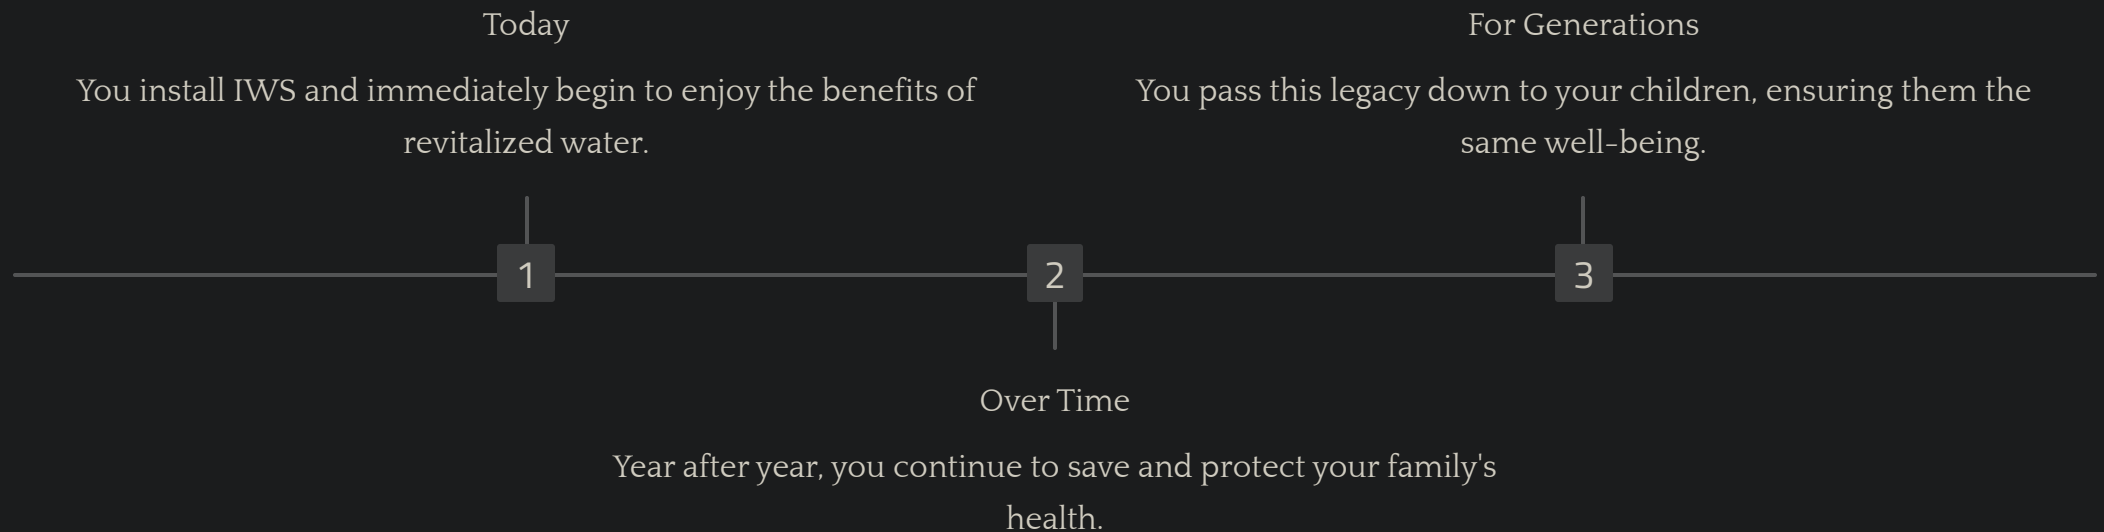

Sustainability

Reduce your environmental impact by eliminating the purchase of plastic bottles and filters to replace
